

Louis Philippe Rose

Cuvee Louis Philippe has just released its superb rose for the first time to the American market. This dazzling onion skin colored Champagne has wone over wine critics in France, Spain and England with its vibrant mélange of seductive fruit flavors and lemon peel acidity. Its persistent bubble animates the glass and stirs the palate with a soufflé-like texture and penetrating intensity. The nose is redolent of the perfume of Pinor Noir and the chalk and limestone subtrata of the vineyards in the country-side around the old cathedral town of Re-ims, Cuvee Louis Philippe is a small producer of Champagne dedicated to the finest quality for 129 years. The marque has been owned by M. Philippe Du Broca for the last 30 years.
